

NWCA Recognizes 2004 Coach of the Year Recipients

For the first time in the history of the NWCA Coach of the Year award, the National Wrestling Coaches Association (NWCA) honored a head coach of the year in each division. The NWCA is proud to announce the five NWCA Head Coach of the Year award winners are Greg Strobel of Lehigh University, Miles Van Bee of Western State College, Dave Mitchell of Luther College, David Ray of Montana State Northern and Jim Ziegler of Northwest Wyoming.

Greg Strobel earned his first coach of the year honors after guiding Lehigh back to national prominence. In his ninth year as Head Coach, Greg Strobel enjoyed his best season by setting numerous Lehigh coaching records. With five All-Americans (2nd most in LU annals), his team at the 2004 NCAAs scored a school record 77.5 points, 10 more than in 1979. This was the fourth straight Nationals that Greg has coached a finalist, with a total of two champions and four runners-up. The team's point totals the
