

RealProWrestling : “The New League of Super Heroes”

By Rulon Gardner, Olympic Gold Medalist

There's a crisis brewing in American sports, and it's up to influential people like you to step up and help prevent it. If you're concerned about the future of sports and you should be, then read on, because we need your help.

Don't worry – we're not going to ask you for money; just a vote of confidence for what we're trying to achieve.

Maybe you're too young to remember the glory days when kids dreamed of growing up to be like Jackie Robinson or Roger Staubach. These guys were heroes, not just as athletes, but as men.

Now, think for a minute: what sorts of examples are being set for young people today?

Professional basketball players are brawling in the stands, being hauled into court on weapons and drug charges, and acting like thugs. Fueled by uncontrolled egos, and insane amounts of money, professional basketball in many instances has
