TEMPE, Ariz.— The No. 6 Sun Devil Wrestling team is set to open the 2018-19 regular season on the road at the 48th Bison Open on Saturday, Nov. 10 (9 am MT) and in a dual vs. South Dakota on Sunday, Nov. 11 (12 pm MT).

North Dakota State's 48th Bison Open will take place at the Scheels Center in the Sanford Health Athletic Complex (1600 University Dr N - Fargo, ND) with live coverage on Trackwrestling.com. Competition will begin at 10 am CT/9 am MT and will continue straight through with a short break to move mats before the finals. There will be wrestlebacks to sixth place and awards will be given to the top-three placers at each weight class.

The Sun Devils will open the dual schedule on Sunday with a match vs. South Dakota State at Sioux Falls' Sanford Pentagon (1 pm CT/12 pm MT). SDSU is ranked anywhere between No. 16 and No. 20 in national polls, making this ASU's first of several top-25 matchups this season. The Jackrabbits finished 12th at NCAA's last season and return 133-lb national champion and Hodge Award finalist Seth Gross, who enters his senior season. Damion Hahn took the helm of the program in the offseason, coming from Cornell, replacing Chris Bono who took the head job at Wisconsin. The dual will be streamed live on FloWrestling.org and for those planning to attend, tickets can be purchased on Ticketmaster.com.
