Crebs ranked ninth, four Warriors start year regionally-ranked

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. – Senior Gable Crebs (Montoursville, Pa./Montoursville Area) will start the year ranked ninth in the initial National Wrestling Coaches Association Division III Individual Rankings at 197 pounds, while three other Lycoming College wrestlers are ranked in the initial Southeast Region rankings, the organization announced on Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Junior heavyweight Robbie West (Washington, Pa./Fort Cherry) is ranked fourth in the Southeast Region and is listed in the honorable mention portion of the d3wrestle.com rankings. Junior 125-pounder Kaden Majcher (Turbotville, Pa./Warrior Run) and sophomore 149-pounder Kobin Karper (Boiling Springs, Pa./Boiling Springs) are both listed fifth in the region, with Karper also in the honorable mention portion of the d3wrestle.com rankings.

Crebs is a three-time NCAA Southeast Regional placewinner and a 2022 All-American, as he finished eighth in the nation in his only appearance at the NCAA Championships. He starts the year listed as a contender by d3wrestle.com and ranked second at 197 pounds in the Southeast Region. He was 33-3 as a junior with 18 pins and he enters his senior year with a 83-22 career record with 37 pins.

West went 27-8 last year with 20 pins while serving as the backup to 2022 All-American Connor Fulmer. Karper finished 23-8 as a rookie with eight pins and he placed sixth at the NCAA Southeast Regional and Majcher went 27-9 with 12 pins as a sophomore, as he took seventh at the regional.

The Warriors open the 2023-24 season with the Lycoming Invitational on Sunday, Nov. 5, at 9 a.m. at the Keiper Recreation Center.
