Binghamton University and Jonathan Kaloust Bearcat Open Recap

Our team had a great time this past weekend in my hometown competing against Binghamton University and in the Jonathan Kaloust Bearcat Open. It was good to see our young men compete against some different competition for a change and I think we found out a lot more about ourselves and where we are at.

On Saturday, we defeated Binghamton University in a one-sided affair. We won 6 of the first 7 weight classes contested and our only defeat came in overtime. At 174lbs, Andrew Berreyesa claimed a 6-2 victory over his ranked opponent. We did lose the final three weight classes, which is something we are going to need to improve on as a dual team if we want to be competitive down the road. Overall, I was very happy with our performance.

On Sunday, we came away with 1 champion, 2-third place finishes, 1-fourth place finish and a 6th place finisher. I feel like our team is right where we need to be this time of the year. Our conditioning was on point, and I believe we brought home some good things to work on this week.

125lbs- Stevo Poulin (1st Place)

133lbs- Jace Koelzer (3rd Place)

133lbs- Brady Hankin (4th Place)

157lbs- Vinny Zerban (3rd Place)

174lbs- Andrew Berreyesa (6th Place)

This Sunday, we head to West Virginia for a quad dual versus Glenville State, Edinboro, and West Virginia University. We will need to step it up a level to come home with 3 victories.

Alirez to compete in NWCA All-Star Classic

Yesterday afternoon, Andrew Alirez was called on as a replacement for the 2022 NWCA All-Star Classic at 141lbs. Andrew is very excited for this opportunity and will be our first UNC Bear ever to compete in this event. His opponent will be current #1 Ranked Cole Matthews from the University of Pittsburgh.

The event will take place on Tuesday, November 22nd at 6pm CT in Austin, Texas. While the event is not open to the public, it will be streamed on FloWrestling. For those in the Greeley area, stay tuned for details on UNC's watch party!
